Increase in English Bank Rate Appears to Have Unsettled Foreign Markets.

BY BROADAN WALL.

New York, October L.—Stocks were dull and heavy to-day, closing around the low prices of the day. Dealings were further reduced and the business inrgely professional.

Lower prices ruled in London and a downward impetis was given by sales for foreign account. United States Steel lead in point of activity; from the opening price of 60 the common fell to 584. Aside from the short covering which appeared from time to time, little support was apparent. There were fresh rumors of cuts in the prices for steel products. RICHMOND STOCK MARKET.

Japan, 20.216 bales: to Mexico, 2.687 bales.

New Orleans, October 2.—The cotton market took on a net ribe in the morning session to-day, but fell off gradually later because of the outlook of improvement in weather conditions in the western half of the belt. The forecast promised a decided change for the better, which prompted much liquidation of long cotton, and some little sciling for short account.

The opering was steady at a rise of 762 points on the advance in Liverpool futures and the sales of 16,090 bales of spots in that market. Reports from Texas also stimulated buylng, and the market worked up to a net advance of 8611 points. Private cable messages told of a better business being done by English spinners' mills with China, which also helped the long side. From the mid-ole of the morning, however, the market commenced to fall off and at noon prices were 76's points under yesterday's close. In the afternoon the decline widened until the tading months were 148'ls points down. The close was casy at a net loss for the day of 13'th points.

Spot colton quiet and unchanged. Midding, Mc. Sa'es on the spot 600 bales and 1.23't to arrive. Futures closed: October, 12.71; Navember, 13.73; December, 13.75; January, 13.71; March, 13.80; May, 13.85.

how withdrawal shall be made, and how and when truth of statement may be proven.

"I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia, That when any person shall take exception to any statement made in any newspaper or other publication as libelous, the person who so claims grievance shall, within three days after said publication is made, furnish to the editor, owner or publisher of the offending publication a statement of the matter, under oath, and the editor, owner or publisher shall give the said statement publication in his next succeeding issue after receipt thereof, in the same column in which the article complained of has appeared, under headings of the same size and prominence, and this shall be accepted as full and complete withdrawal of the offending publication.

lication. "2. In all prosecutions or indictments for libel the truth may be given to the jury by evidence. And if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives and justifiable ends, the person or publication accused of such libel shall be acquitted."

The first paragraph of the proposed

The first paragraph of the proposed act, Mr. Hughes explained, was copied from the Ohio statute on the subject, and the second from the present law in New Jersey, approved by President Wilson when Governor of that State.

Wilson when Governor of that State.

Present Law Inadequate.

Under the present law in Virginia, proof of the truth of the statement, or evidence that a full retraction was published, may be taken only in mitigation of the damages. Objection was made that the limit of three days did not give the aggrieved party time to consult counsel or to demand a retraction. Chairman Hughes said the time and only been tentatively set, following the Ohio statute, which allows only three days. President Cooke thought that any paper which, without intention, through misinformation out intention, through misinformation or a blunder of some sort, published an untrue statement libelous in its nature, would hear from it within three hours-not three days. Even simple errors not at all libelous in their nature were usually very promptly reported by some one.

The last of the series of proposed acts recommended by the legislative committee was an act requiring the publication by city and town treasurers of their receipts and expendi-tures. A law now in force requires such publication by county boards of supervisors under heavy penalty.

There is on the statute books a law requiring quarterly publication by city and town treasurers, but, as it carries no penalty, it is not observed. The only city which publishes a complete statement of its affairs, Chair- Miss Robinette Lee, Citizen, Irvington; man Hughes said, was Winchester, which has a stringent city ordinance Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Anderson, News, on the subject, and which publishes in Marion; Judge and Mrs. J. C. Campdetail every month all receipts and ex- bell, Era, Amherst; C. W. Campbell penditures.

Resided in many States, he had been frequently told that what Virginia needed most was a corrupt practices act, but, as that was a large subject, and would take a great deal of time for consideration, he was not certain that it would be best to present it to the coming session of the General Assembly, which already has an ambitious program mapped out.
